Autumn Term 2 - Week 4

This week in English we have been learning how to write a recount. A recount is when you write about events in order of how they happened. This means you have to write in the past tense.

Can you write a recount of our visit to the Natural History Museum?

Support: Cut out the pictures, stick them in the right order and write a sentence next to each one. Use time-related words such as: Last Friday, next, after that, finally.*

Challenge: Write a title. Cut out the pictures, stick them in the right order and write a sentence using interesting sentence starters such as: At the beginning of the day, next we, after a while, after lunch, in the afternoon, at the end, when we had finished, after a long and exciting day.*

How many interesting facts about dinosaurs can you include to make the recount even more interesting for the reader?
